

Phonics workshop Feedback

During April 2017 we held a number of phonic workshops for parents to offer support and ideas to develop reading and writing with their child.

Thank you to everyone who attended. For those who were unable to attend we would recommend you look on our website in the 'Curriculum' section under 'Literacy' for ideas. There is a useful short film to watch that demonstrates how to pronounce the sounds correctly.

Here is some of the lovely feedback we received.

Another really useful workshop. Phonics is something I have heard about but never understood what it meant, but now I have a better understanding of what it is all about.

Myself and Thomas will have hours of fun making up games and learning about it together.

Attending the phonics workshop has helped me understand phonics and gave me great ideas on how to help my son learn to read and write. It has also helped me understand the methods used in nursery for teaching phonics and now I can use them at home.

David has been pointing out rhyme in stories and songs, has been blending and segmenting, reading letters and shop names and correcting mum and dad! It's been a great help, very much appreciated.

It was a really great session. Huge thanks To Charlotte for adding it to the many sessions that were already planned. We've used the letter cards to sound out write words already and I feel much more confident in helping Alfie with sounding out words.

Thank you! Made a lot of sense once explained! Please do more! We're already sounding out and spelling words and talking like robots!

The boys also have an interest in pencils and mark making – a great workshop!

Thanks.

The workshop was very helpful and informative and it was so useful to learn more about phonics. I never really knew much about it until now, so the workshop along with the printouts will be extremely good tools to use now and going forward. Since the workshop we are reading out a lot more signs that we see and blending some words.

This session was really helpful and gives me much more confidence to support my child with early reading. I learnt such a lot about blending and segmenting and how it all fits together.

Great presentation, very worthwhile.
